1ST ANNOUNCEMENT

Welcome Letter

Dear colleagues and friends,

It gives me great pleasure to welcome you to the 23rd international annual meeting of the Lebanese Society of Obstetrics and Gynecology LSOG that will be held on 7-9 November, 2019 at the Hilton Habtoor Hotel in Beirut, Lebanon.

This annual meeting has proven itself year after year as a unique and dynamic platform in the region, bringing together the best minds of the OB/GYN profession. This meeting has emerged as an exciting summit that showcases and exchanges novel ideas in the field of OB/GYN, with the ultimate goal of advancing women's health in Lebanon and the region.

This year, the theme of the congress is “Practice in a Changing Landscape”, and it will focus on the importance of screening and preventive measures in saving lives and reducing morbidity. Hot topics in sexual and maternal health and rights, high risk pregnancy, oncology, infertility, hormonal imbalance & obesity will be discussed. In addition, specialized workshops will be offered to build capacities in various clinical and hands on practice skills.

The annual LSOG meeting has become a staple event in the OBGYN community, exploring the latest in the field, broadening our network and establishing sustainable partnerships. This year, the congress is collaborating with the Arab Federation of Obstetrics & Gynecology Societies (FAGOS), le Collège National des Gynécologues Obstétriciens Français (CNGOF), the Society of Maternal-Fetal Medicine (SMFM) and the Lebanese Order of Midwives (LOM).

Lebanon is an extremely beautiful and exciting touristic destination all year round. In November, the weather is very pleasant. I am sure with a lot of historical sites to visit, various touristic activities, delicious cuisine and a very active nightlife, you will have a great memorable time. Beirut as its hosting city proved to be a charming and strategic destination bridging East and West.

Looking forward to seeing you all in November.
