Dear Friends and Colleagues,

On behalf of the Executive Committee of The Lebanese Society of Obstetrics and Gynecology (LSOG), I would like to extend a personal invitation to all members of our society to the "20th International Annual Conference of the Lebanese Society of Obstetrics and Gynecology" that will be held for the second year in partnership with the "Le College National des Gynécologues et Obstétriciens Français" on October 27 - 29, 2016 at Hilton Habtoor Hotel.

The scientific program is an all-inclusive menu which reflects on the diversity and versatility of our specialty and will cater for all our constituencies.

Advances in Medical, Workshops and courses with different case studies and interactive discussions will be featured in this Congress.

The continuous success of our annual meeting, has made it the most important annual conference in Obstetrics and Gynecology, and the most awaited for meeting among local and regional colleagues.

Of course, this success could not have been possible without the generous support of the pharmaceutical companies. This year we will be looking forward for your support and participation in our meeting so we can be partners in success.

Kindest Regards,

Prof. Wadih Ghaname
President of the LSOG

08:30 - 13:00 Cervical Cancer Screening and Colposcopy Workshop

Description:

The course aims to enhance knowledge and understanding of the latest ACOG/ASCCP/ USPSTF guidelines in the management of the abnormal cervico-vaginal cytological/and or HPV screening. The colposcopy workshop aims to update general gynecology practitioners on the art of colposcopy and the appearance of various cervical lesions in an interactive fashion with demonstration of cytological and colposcopic appearance of various cervical pre-curser lesions.

In view of the evolving data on various HPV screening tests and the constantly changing screening practices throughout the world, this course brings to participants the latest data on Pap smear/ HPV screening algorithms and how they may impact cervical cancer control strategies.

The colposcopy workshop will enhance the gynecologist's ability to diagnosis and treat various cervical precancerous lesions and how to manage them and follow them up.

Pending availability participants may be exposed to a live demonstration.

08:30 - 13:00 Ultrasound in Perinatal Medicine

in collaboration with D'Echographie Fetale & Arab Association of OB GYN Societies

Description:

This CME course consists of three modules. The first module reviews the value of first trimester ultrasound in screening for fetal aneuploidy, organ malformations, and pre-eclampsia. The second module tackles the role of ultrasound in managing pregnancies, complicated by fetal growth restriction and abnormally invasive placenta. The third module covers ultrasound imaging in special scenarios, namely in the Emergency Room, multiple gestation and preterm birth. Target audience includes obstetricians, sonologists, and sonographers.
